350 brave weather to hear debate

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — A verbal exchange over judicial appointments marked an otherwise rainless debate last night in the Granite City High School Gymnasium.

Allied on most issues, no winner emerged from the Democrats vying to replace the retiring 21st Congressional District representative, Mel Price, 63, D-Bellefonte. The primary is March 15.

While snow fell to a 5-inch depth, about 350 people heard the views of candidates Jerry Costello, 38, Belleville, St. Clair County Board chairman; Madison County Auditor Pete Fields, 42, Glen Carbon; Mike Mansfield, 53, Belleville, on leave as chief Washington aide to Price; and Steve Maragides, 50, Madison, an attorney.

The hottest argument, between Costello and Fields, followed a question about the widely reported allegation that Costello is involved in selecting 20th Judicial District judges.

"Have I put a good word in for applicants for associate judges? Yes. Do I control any one of the 11 circuit judges, that's absurd," Costello said. "And last but not least, let me just say that when my friend, Pete Fields, was appointed county auditor and his cousin (George Moran Jr.) was appointed to associate judge — and then elected circuit judge in Madison County — I'm sure (Fields') uncle, George Moran Sr., and Pete and many other lawyers and friends put a good word in for (Moran Jr.) ... It happens every day, folks."

Fields responded, "I think there's a big difference ... in making a recommendation and holding a threat of retention over other judges."

Costello replied there are no threats. He said he knows no St. Clair County judge who has lost a retention vote. He said judicial recommendations are sought and given throughout Illinois.

The Great Congressional Debate!

"I don't think it happens in Madison County," Fields said. "I think it does and I know it does," Costello retorted.

Concerning $19,000 given to East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer in return for congressional campaign work in 1986, Fields said the money was legally reported. He said it paid expenses for precinct workers and a telephone bank.

Mansfield answered a question about using his name on a questionnaire mailed from "Price's" office, saying it was approved by the Ethics Commission and informed Price about voter concerns. Asked if his campaign bid is serious, Maragides said it is.

Mansfield used a question about the area's depressed economy to attack Costello. Mansfield said a letter from Costello to Swift Packing Co. officials resulted in their decision not to reopen the National City plant, which would have employed 450.

Costello said Swift violated an agreement by using Iowans rather than local laborers for start-up work. Mansfield said the district lost long-term jobs because of Costello's letter.

"We have to bring jobs back, not scare them away," Mansfield said. Fields and Maragides advocate help for steel workers. Maragides said he would favor protectionism to do it.

To supply jobs, Fields endorsed Sen. Paul Simon's full employment bill. Fields said it would provide workers with money and government with manpower to repair the infrastructure, including sewer lines and Metro East Sanitary District problems. Mansfield said revenue sharing should be restored to repair the infrastructure.

Defense issues divided the candidates. Mansfield, Maragides and Costello each want a House Armed Service Committee seat to protect district jobs. Price is on the committee.

GRANITE CITY — The Great Congressional Debate drew cheerleaders for the candidates, but few undecided voters.

Campaign buttons and sweat shirts ... Handshakes and "how ya doings" ... It seemed like everyone knew who the best man was before going in and they just wanted to hear him prove it.

But after questioning more than 50 people, three uncommitted voters were caught "sneaking" into the Granite City High School Gymnasium to hear the debate. Each provided a telephone number and agreed to give an opinion of the candidates after the debate.

One of the three, a Granite City man, apparently decided against offering an opinion. He

"I have no idea who I'll vote for — that's why I'm here."

Myra Campbell

couldn't be reached, though called before and after 11 p.m.

Florence Levy, Belleville, said nobody won. She couldn't make up her mind.

All of them were impressive. I feel like I learned a lot about the issues, a lot more than you get just from the newspaper," she said. "I was glad that there was no mudslinging. Instead, they were all very informative."

"I'm ashamed to say that I never even heard of Steve Maragides before they announced his name tonight. So I guess I learned a lot."

Myra Campbell, Edwardsville, said before the debate, "I have no idea who I'll vote for — that's why I'm here."

Afterward, she actually had an opinion.

"I was very impressed with Jerry Costello. Unless some issue comes up to change that, I'll have to say I'll vote for him."

"Being from here in Edwardsville, I've heard lots of negative information on him in the newspaper, but I think he answered it very well. I thought his answers were more impressive overall."

Campbell said the debate hit the issues and helped her see the "best side" of the candidates.

"I feel very confident about my choice," she said.

Jackson delegate says Venice voters 'used' by Costello

By Dave Gosnell

(Third in the candidate series.)

GRANITE CITY — Venice voters were "used" by the Jerry Costello congressional campaign, an area Jesse Jackson delegate said.

Rick Russo, an Edwardsville delegate for the Illinois presidential campaign of the Rev. Jesse Jackson, said Jackson's name was used to get black voters from Venice to support Costello. St. Clair County Board chairman Costello is running for Congress against three other Democrats.

Russo said a Sunday rally in Venice was promoted as a rally for Jackson, but those who spoke, including Costello, only praised Costello.

"A flier on the door said 'Jesse Jackson Rally' when I got there. And then they started talking about Jerry Costello. None of the speakers talked about Jesse Jackson," Russo said.

Don Garrett, a Madison County Board member from Madison who organized the rally and who supports Costello, said the event was a combined rally for Jackson and Costello.

Garrett said the rally was meant to support area delegates for Jackson, though he said Costello was not asked to support Jackson delegates.

He said discussion about Jackson's campaign was not necessary.

"The name speaks for itself," Garrett said.

Russo said he was upset with the idea that Jackson's name would be linked politically with Costello's campaign.

"I think the people of Venice were deceived. As a Jackson delegate, I don't appreciate Jesse Jackson's name being used to get out people for Jerry Costello ... Jesse Jackson and his ideas run counter to Jerry Costello. He's (Jackson) not the 'old guard,' Jerry Costello is. Jesse doesn't have big corporate support, Costello does," Russo said.

"If he's (Russo) upset, I suggest he ask us not to support him" as a Jackson delegate, Garrett said. Garrett serves as chairman of the Jesse Jackson for President Committee in Venice.

Garrett said he thought Costello would be a good candidate for blacks in Venice, though he said he has not contacted the other three Democratic congressional candidates about their position on Jackson's campaign, nor did he invite them to speak at the rally.

The other candidates are: Pete Fields, Madison County auditor; Mike Mansfield, who is on leave as retiring Rep. Mel Price's top aide; and Steve Maragides, a Madison attorney.

297-unit mobile home park approved by village

Drainage, erosion questioned

Helen Hawkins, Nameoki Township Precinct 5 committeewoman, who was asked by residents to attend the meeting, questioned drainage and soil erosion problems resulting from the proposed 297-unit mobile home park.

She reported speaking about the residents' concerns with State Sen. Sam Wolf and Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen.

Hawkins said a permit from the Metro East Sanitary District is required before development can begin.

The Levee Board should be asked to exercise its rights on permits and make a ruling on water drainage from the property before development takes place, she said.

"It doesn't and something should happen, those people will have their day in court," Hawkins said Wednesday.

"Where I live it is the worst soil, but in Quiet Valley it's sand," Trustee Louis Whitsett said.

Judy Merritt asked why residences could not be built on the proposed site, instead of mobile homes.

"I don't think it's safe to build structures there or they might start to sink," Whitsett said.

PONTOON BEACH — Over strenuous objections, the Village Board approved an ordinance Tuesday allowing Quality Sand Inc. to establish 297 mobile homes adjacent to Quiet Valley subdivision.

"Are we going to have a zoning hearing, or don't we have to go by due process?" Judy Merritt, 35 Iris Ave. asked. She was one of 50 protesters at the meeting.

Village Attorney Keith Jensen said a zoning hearing will take place after Don Peacock, co-owner of Quality Sand, requests zoning for the 97-acre park.

"If we turn down a zoning request they can go to court and still sue us," Trustee Lou Whitsett said.

"Would you like one (mobile home park) next to your house?" Doug Harvey, 3804 Lake Drive, asked.

"No," Whitsett replied. "It seems to me you're caving in to this man's demands," said Marvin Ribbing, 7 Lily Ave.

"I don't like that word, 'caving in,'" Mayor Glen Wilson responded.

Trustees sanctioned the mobile home park Jan. 26 as part of a settlement with Quality Sand, which had filed an intent-to-sue document against the village, in August, alleging interference with the development.

Part of the settlement states Quality Sand will provide park entrances at Kaseberg Lane, Reville Lane, Marigold Drive and at Illinois 163. The goal is to eliminate traffic through Quiet Valley.

"They'll still be driving through the streets. They are going to go by the shortest route," Rebecca Williams, 7 Sunflower Court, said.

"What kind of foot traffic can we expect?" John Harper, 30 Iris Drive, asked. "I have a 7-year-old daughter at home. Can't they put up a fence?"

Quality Sand will plant hardwood trees and shrubs and maintain a buffer zone between the residential property and a series of double-wide mobile homes on the park's western edge, closest to the residences, Jensen said.

"He's (Peacock) going to clean up his portion of Long Lake and make it nice area and not have washing machines and

United Way elects Johannpeter

By Patrick Foley
Staff writer

Ben Johannpeter was elected as the president of the Tri-Cities Area United Way for 1988 at its annual dinner meeting Tuesday night in Madison.

He is manager of public affairs for Granite City Steel and lives in Granite City.

Other officers elected at the meeting include Elmer Worham, vice president, George Smith, secretary, and Mike Thornton, treasurer.

It was announced that Paul Mackiewicz, executive vice president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will be the campaign chairman of the 1988 drive. Drew Karandjeff, chairman of Central Banc System Inc. and Central Bank of Granite City, will be the campaign vice chairman.

Jack Lee, 1987 president of the United Way, outlined the highlights of his tenure, including a record-breaking campaign headed by Darryl Slater.

Lee also noted the addition of four new agencies to the United Way: Mobile Meals of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Piusa Health Care Center, Phoenix Crisis Center and the American Heart Association.

Slater announced the record pledges of the 1987 campaign of $793,390, $30,000 more than the 1986 record campaign.

"This is the year of the volunteer," Slater said. More volunteer solicitors participated in the 1987 campaign than ever before.

The local United Way drive ranks 14th of the 61 United Way campaigns in Illinois, in terms of dollars raised during 1986, the last year for which figures were available.

"Our volunteers are second to none in this state or any other," Lee said. "I applaud the outstanding job these volunteers, under the leadership of Darryl, have done."

"We touched areas never before contacted during a campaign," Lee said.

"Jack not only tried, but he succeeded in having a successful year," Johannpeter said of Lee. "Five years ago we didn't even raise $600,000 and this year we had a record campaign."

"Darryl has every right to be proud of the accomplishments of this year. He's done a bang-up job," Johannpeter said.

Others elected to the UW executive committee included Dennis Orsey, nominating chairman; Mary Jesse, communications chairman; Paul Costello, allocations chairman; Linda Schermer, priorities and planning chairman; and, elected from the board, Ron Daine, George Knecht and Eric Robertson.

Elected to the board of directors for three-year terms were Shirley Blasingame, R C Bush, Jack Conroy, Jim Eisenbeis, Gussie Glasper, Drew Karandjeff, George Knecht, Ed Mullins, Jim Schmiedake, Don Shaffner, Bill Terrell, Sister Mary Thomas and Mike Thornton.

Johannpeter quoted Jim Robinson, national chairman of the United Way, who said, "The United Way must be the catalyst for public good."

"If the need is there, we must be made aware of it," Johannpeter said. "Nothing is beyond our reach."

"I am confident we will have a very successful year in 1988."

assist out-of-town readers who do not read the Sunday and Wednesday newspapers.

Council may choose Madison Ave. project

GRANITE CITY—The City Council still is undecided on how to spend the city's portion of the state's motor fuel tax allotment.

The council originally intended to spend $50,000 in each ward for street repairs using the MFT money. But now the council is instead considering spending the money for a major facelift of Madison Avenue.

The city has accumulated about $680,000, which is two years of MFT funds.

The amount is nearly enough to pay for a complete repaving, including curbs and gutters, of Madison Avenue from 20th Street to Nameoki Road but this would not allow the city to allocate money for projects in each ward.

Chairman of the council's Street and Alley Committee, 2nd Ward Alderman Pat Schuman, said he thought resurfacing Madison Avenue should be a high priority.

"I'm kind of in favor of doing Madison Avenue," Schuman said. He said there is a consensus among some aldermen and Wardfield that Madison Avenue will be a crucial city street if the downtown shopping center project comes to pass. They say the street needs immediate repairs.

Costello accused of bungling loan

GRANITE CITY—Congressional candidate Jerry Costello was tagged by his opponent, Pete Fields, with playing "fast and loose" with St. Clair County loan funds.

Fields, Madison County auditor, charged this week that Costello, who is St. Clair County Board chairman, mismanaged a St. Clair County loan to the St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison on Illinois 203.

Fields provided a bankruptcy document naming the raceway as a debtor to St. Clair County in the amount of $190,000. He also said he has a report in which Costello approved an unsecured loan of $200,000 from St. Clair County's Intergovernmental Grant Department. Apparently only $10,000 of the loan was repaid before the raceway declared bankruptcy in early 1987, he said.

Fields said Costello's actions have left taxpayers "picking up the tab."

"This loan, at the very least, indicates that Costello is a fiscal bungler," Fields said.

Varadian to leave city

GRANITE CITY—There will soon be a vacancy on the Granite City Council.

Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian said he has bought a house in Maryville and will soon move out of his home at 1744 Olive St.

"My status is that I'm still resident of the 5th Ward. I will be resigning," Varadian said.

There was some speculation that Varadian had moved out of the city because he had missed most council meetings since the beginning of December. But Varadian, who attended the council's Feb. 2 meeting, said he still resides at his Olive Street house but will be moving at the end of February — when he plans to resign.

County rejects bigger landfill

Applause erupted from the audience when the Madison County Board voted 19-7 Monday to reject the proposed expansion of the Barton Landfill near Edwardsville.

The vote came in a special meeting after the board's pollution control committee recommended 6-4 Saturday that the request by GSX Corp. be denied.

Haine challenging Allen in race for state's attorney

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The "get tough" philosophy of challenger Bill Haine, Alton, is pitted against the administration-minded incumbent, Dick Allen, Granite City, in the March 15 Democratic primary race for state's attorney.

Haine, 49, and Allen, 62, are Democrats, veterans and St. Louis University Law School graduates. Similarities end there.

Allen has three children, is a World War II veteran, is a former assistant state's attorney and assistant public defender in Madison County, and serves as a member of the boards of directors for the Tri-Cities Area YMCA and Coordinated Youth Services.

Haine is married, has seven children, is a Vietnam War veteran awarded the Bronze Star, is a former law clerk with the Illinois appellate court, and serves as a County Board member, chairman of the county transit district board and as a special assistant attorney general.

Following is a record of the candidates' opinions in their own words:

Prosecute/administrate?

Haine: "The fact of the matter is... he (Allen) is neither an administrator nor a prosecutor. He is, in fact, a politician without significant goals for the community's welfare. He does not have the philosophical mind of a prosecutor nor the willingness to do the difficult task of asking and demanding that people be punished for wrongdoing. That is not an easy thing to do, and Dick Allen has declined to do it, causing confusion to the staff and the public."

Allen: "When I took office three years ago, it was in administrative shambles because of Mr. (Don) Weber's preoccupation with the high profile, sensational cases. He ignored the day-to-day duties necessary to the overall efficient operation and the everyday need to serve all the public. As an administrator, I also enhanced the scope of direction of the office. To sum it up, it is my belief that as state's attorney I am head of one of the largest law firms in Madison County. I must administer the duties of the firm and be accessible to serve the public."

Significant statistics?

Allen: "There was an article in your paper stating that a police chief claimed they could never get warrants in their cases. The fact of the matter is that the chief's department was issued warrants in 85 percent of the requests. In fact, in my three years in office, we issued more warrants—3,000—than the first three years of my predecessor. Another figure I am proud of is the more than $5 million my office has collected on back child support. That is the highest level of the 101 downstate counties outside of Cook County."

Haine: "Case statistics all indicate that trials are down, recorded pleas are up and acquittals are up. This means that the most important law enforcement office in the county is not functioning well. It is common knowledge in Edwardsville that the criminal defense attorneys, including the Public Defender's Office, set the pace. This is most unfortunate for the welfare of the people."

Plea bargaining?

Haine: "...the police chiefs should be rightly concerned about the plea bargaining rate, because it indicates a lack of willingness to prosecute. It is never easy to send anyone to jail, and Dick Allen's office has thrown in the towel in the matter. The philosophical surrender has been communicated to wrongdoers, hence the incidence of increasingly lawless activity."

"As an example, there was a record number (of) over 50 residential burglaries in Granite City in the month of December. This is occurring when Dick Allen routinely encourages the

Dick Allen
The incumbent

Bill Haine
The challenger

reduction of residential burglary charges to avoid the penalty of imprisonment for this crime. The man's own hometown is being pillaged right under his eyes..."

Allen: "It is a basic fact of our criminal justice system that plea bargaining is an integral part of the system. In the state of Illinois, between 1975 and 1985, jury trials accounted for only 5 percent of the felony convictions. Six percent of the convictions were bench trials. Of all felony case convictions in Illinois, 89 percent resulted from pleas. For someone to claim they would not, or should not, plea bargain is being unreasonable and untruthful with themselves and the public at large."

Ticket fixing?

Allen: "I think we can all say that ticket-fixing is not permissible and, in fact, in the context of the (Illinois) attorney general's opinion (although the opinion does not have the force of law since it is merely an opinion and not a judicial ruling) ticket-fixing is prohibited."

This is not to say that in individual cases, if an officer feels that he has over-charged, that he is prohibited from correcting the situation. It is not unusual for an officer who has given an individual, let us say, three tickets, to change his mind and reduce it to one charge if he feels that is the correct thing to do."

Haine: "I am personally not aware of the incident you mention (involving Pontoon Beach), but 'ticket fixing' is wrong and must cease. A ticket is a charge and should be disposed of openly and not outside of the law."

"Ticket fixing encourages disrespect for the law and for public authority and violates a fundamental American principle of equal justice under the law."

Police tests?

In Granite City, two police sergeants and 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney are under indictment concerning police tests taken in 1985. The question: Should high-profile cases of this nature be handled more expeditiously than other cases?

Haine: "I have personal misgiving about this case being brought forth shortly before a primary when it could have been resolved months ago. However, I really should make no further comments because it is before the court and it is a sensitive thing which should not be bandied about in an election. Making it a political issue might hurt the rights of a defendant to a fair trial."

"Generally, the only time 'high profile' cases should be treated more expeditiously is if they would act as a significant deterrent to further violations."

Allen: "One does not place a stopwatch on the grand jury process or attempts to see that justice is carried out. There was a lengthy, detailed investigation. The information was presented to a grand jury. Indictments of official misconduct were issued. There will be a trial. Beyond that it is inappropriate to comment further."

Cencom case?

Allen: "There is a serious question of whether Cencom was, or is, illegally misleading the consumer. I also recognized that there were numerous practices by the company that were clearly not illegal but were poorly servicing the consumer. Therefore, I appointed a highly competent and professional task force to examine all practices of the company and report back to me. Additionally, by placing the matter in the hands of an impartial panel one removes any question of political or personal motivation. In the Cencom case, I have merely done what I was elected to do — serve the best interests of all the public."

Haine: "The Cencom Cable Co. investigation is nothing more than a political circus staged by Dick Allen to divert attention away from his abysmal record. All of these matters could have been conducted by the Illinois

TRACEY'S TIPS

Many people suffer more respiratory illnesses during the winter months. However, the outdoor weather doesn't necessarily trigger such attacks. The actual culprit may be the dryness that develops in the nose, throat, and bronchial tubes due to artificial dry heat generated by your furnace. Fortunately, a more natural and healthy atmosphere can be achieved through humidification. Humidifiers replenish the moisture in the air and leave a condition that is very suitable to a family's health. Call American Home Service Company about the other benefits of humidifying your home or office.

Ex-county board member arrested

Alton attorney Charles Burns, a former Madison County Board member, has been charged with a misdemeanor battery count after a 14-year-old girl told police Burns pushed her onto a bed and kissed her.

The complaint was filed Jan. 29 by the girl's mother, of Claydale Drive in the Caseyville area.

Burns, 34, was picked up by Collinsville police, who later learned the alleged incident took place in an unincorporated St. Clair County area.

Burns is on three years' probation after pleading guilty to a charge of possession of cocaine in Michigan.

Police reports said Burns had gone to the woman's home with her. She left the house for about 15 minutes to talk to a neighbor. As she returned, her daughter was running from her home yelling that Burns had attacked her.

Burns described the woman as his former girlfriend. He told Collinsville police he was assaulted by the woman at the Drift Inn tavern after he was released on bond.

Charges against her are pending.

4-year term for attacking women

A judge on Jan. 29 sentenced a Collinsville man to two concurrent four-year terms for attacks on women in Edwardsville and on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus in 1986.

Michael A. Lockett, 18, pleaded guilty to charges of attempted criminal sexual assault and aggravated battery in November. He was sentenced by Associate Judge Charles V. Roman Jr.

The attempted criminal sexual assault charge stemmed from an attack on a 19-year-old student on the SIUE campus on Aug. 16, 1986. The woman said a man knocked her to the ground, fondled her and threatened to rape her. He fled when he heard the voices of other people.

Relatives seek dog that bit girl

The relatives of a 7-year-old girl bitten by a dog Feb. 6 are asking for assistance in finding the animal.

Courtney Mathes, 7, daughter of Curt Mathes, 1809 Bremen Ave., was bitten on a leg by a dog at about 11 a.m. Saturday near her home. The dog being sought is a medium-sized black "Sheltie-type" male, with light brown legs.

Those with information are asked to call Mrs. Larry Koglin at 981-4193.

Venice police

Icy surface blamed for two accidents on bridge

Icy conditions were blamed for two accidents occurring on the McKinley Bridge last week.

Richard D. Hammons, 25, St. Louis, sustained a minor injury in a mishap involving a van he was driving and a car operated by Debbie D. Johnson, 22, St. Louis, at 3:20 a.m. Feb. 3.

Ice on the roadway resulted in a car driven by Judith A. Walsh, 31, Florissant, hitting the bridge railing Feb. 1. She also suffered a minor injury.

Radar detector stolen

A radar detector valued at $175 was stolen from the auto of Arthur L. Carter, a Madison High School administrator, while the vehicle was parked at Venice High School on Feb. 3.

Police officer injured when auto skids on ice

Police Sgt. Bruce W. Fletcher, 37, sustained a minor injury Feb. 1 when he lost control of his squad car on icy pavement and it skidded into a utility pole.

Fletcher was driving south on South 4th Street at Lincoln Avenue when the accident occurred. He was enroute to assist another police unit in the 700 block of Third Street at the time.

Attorney General's Office or by private persons with private counsel in a class-action suit."

Death penalty?

The question specifically dealt with the Carl and Susan Hoffman murders, asking whether it is significant that the death penalty has not been imposed in that case and others since Allen took office.

Haine: "The death penalty should have been requested in the Carl and Susan Hoffman murder case. This was a miscarriage of justice and (similar instances) happened several times during Dick Allen's tenure. Not only has Mr. Allen

DUIs

Two-vehicle accident injures driver, passenger

John M. Vrabec, 59, 3102 East 23rd St., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and failing to yield the right-of-way on a left turn after a two-car accident at 12:13 a.m. Feb. 3.

Vrabec was going north in the 1600 block of Madison Avenue when he attempted to make a left turn into the Curt's Grill lot. He collided with the southbound car of Harley G. Barton, 33, 2310 West 23rd St. Both Barton and his passenger, Kevin L. McGovern, 35, 4 Tulip Ave., were injured but not hospitalized.

Vrabec's bail was set at $102.

Arrested near GC-Steel

Bruno W. Kulesza, 41, 109 Briarhaven Drive, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol Feb. 5 on Edwardsville Road near the Granite City Steel blast furnace. Kulesza was stopped after a patrolman allegedly saw a car traveling without headlights and weaving from lane to lane. He was released on $102 cash bail.

Driver allegedly leaves scene of two-car crash

Michael S. Myatt, 33, 2520 Parkview Drive, Apt. 10, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and leaving the scene of an accident, Feb. 8.

Myatt's vehicle allegedly struck the rear of the car of Daniel R. Donohoo, East Alton, at Madison Avenue and 20th Street, and they left the scene. Myatt was taken into custody at his home.

DUI warrant served

Michael R. Lancaster, 34, Wood River, was served Feb. 3 with a 1987 Granite City warrant for failure to appear on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was stopped by Alton police and was released on $100 cash bail.

DUI, other charges filed

After seeing a northbound motorist accelerate quickly, spinning the rear wheels, on the payment of Madison Avenue at 27th Street and then swerving the car from lane to lane, an officer stopped Robert E. Feiter, 22, 1715 Garfield Ave., in the 3100 block of Nameki Road at 2:56 a.m. Feb. 6. Feiter was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while his license was suspended, improper lane usage and improper starting.

Goals?

Allen: "I will continue to carry out and enhance the many fine programs I have put in place; the Domestic Violence Center, the Senior Victims Program, the Child Support Collection Division, the Victims/Witness Program, and the computerization of the Felony Division. In the past two years the Felony Division has disposed of felony cases resulting in over 2,500 years incarceration of criminals and five natural life terms for murders. I have an excellent staff in place and will continue to give strong, steady and reasonable administration of justice to all the citizens in Madison County."

Haine: "The State's Attorney's Office under my administration will be committed to the fair and firm enforcement of the law. There will be a team of full-time prosecutors working in cooperation with part-time assistant state's attorneys in every area to maximize the cooperation with police agencies of our county. I will be present with my assistants each and every day in open court and in communication with police officials and child abuse workers to assure that the State's Attorney's Office receives its due respect and that the people of the county are represented at the bar of justice."

Madison driver arrested

Joseph Wayne Baker, 20, 1713 Rhodes St., Madison, was charged Feb. 1 with driving while his license was revoked after he was stopped at 14th Street and Edwardsville Road. He was released on $400 cash bail.

Driver allegedly found with cannabis in pocket

John P. Catterson, 20, 1324 Edwardsville Road, was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis Feb. 2.

After Catterson was stopped by patrolmen at 20th Street and Madison Avenue for allegedly driving with one headlight, he attempted to put a plastic bag and its contents in his pants pocket, officers contended.

He was released on $102 cash bail.

Burglary at apartment

A television valued at $211, a video cassette recorder, 10 video tapes, a microwave, an antique clock and gold wedding bands were taken by a burglar from the apartment of Larry Kampmann, 2805 Kirkpatrick Homes, on Feb. 2.

Auto in garage looted

A burglar broke into the garage at the home of Wesley Parker, 2119 Ohio Ave., entered a car parked inside and ripped open a locked glove compartment to steal a radar detector valued at $100 on Feb. 5.

Microwave, shotgun gone

In a burglary at the home of Evelyn Bridgeman, 2415 E. 24th St., reported Feb. 6, the intruder stole a microwave oven, a 12 gauge shotgun, a stereo cassette player and assorted jewelry items. Two bedrooms were ransacked. The frame and molding were damaged at a rear door, where entry was gained.

Purse with $6 stolen

A black purse belonging to Sharon Day, 2416 Nameoki Road, was stolen from the Nameoki Bingo Center on Feb. 4. The purse contained $6, her driver license and other items.

Stolen car recovered, 4 children apprehended

Darwin P. Stroud, 2650 Adams St., reported Feb. 5 that his 1977 Plymouth sedan was stolen. A short time later, an officer saw the car going north on State Street and stopped the vehicle at the rear of Granite City High School.

Three 16-year-old boys and a 15-year-old girl were in the vehicle. The driver, one of the girls, was charged with not having a valid driver license and was released on a notice to appear. All four juveniles were released to their parents.

Arrested for Arkansas

Martin Richard Hill, 35, 133 Briarcliff Drive, was arrested Feb. 5 on a felony warrant issued by Garland County, Ark., alleging violation of an Arkansas check law.

Hero commended

OWNER OF FAST FREDDY'S hair salon in Granite City, Fred McCollegan, right, is commended by Mayor Von Dee Cruse at the City Council's Feb. 2 meeting for heroic actions. McCollegan dove into icy water near Pontoon Beach to help a woman trapped in her car, as the car was sinking.

Missouri men charged at Granite City High School

James D. Crafton, 25, Ferguson, Mo., and Brian E. Woerner, 28, St. Louis, were each charged with unlawful possession of cannabis, criminal trespass to property and disorderly conduct following their arrest at 8 a.m. Feb. 5 at Granite City High School.

School Monitor Don Gray was holding one of the suspects and Dave Painter, assistant principal, was blocking the exit of the second man when police arrived at the school. School officials alleged the men were in the hallway making lewd remarks to female students and became loud and abusive to Painter when told to leave. Foul language was used by the pair within the hearing of students, teachers and visitors, it was alleged.

A plastic bag containing a substance similar to cannabis allegedly was in the possession of Woerner.

Handgun taken at home

Mary I. Kinder, 2137 Grand Ave., reported Feb. 5 that a .22 caliber revolver was stolen from a bedroom at her home.

Contempt warrant served

Julius Warren Robertson, 26, South Roxana, was arrested at 20th Street and Grand Avenue Feb. 5 on a Wood River warrant alleging contempt by failure to appear at the Madison County jail. Robertson was released to Wood River police.

Conduct charge filed

Glenn Allen Black, 24, 2207 Rock Road, was charged with disorderly conduct after he allegedly screamed and blocked traffic in front of Sammy's Tavern, 921 Niedringhaus Ave., at 10:15 p.m. Feb. 5. He walked down the middle of the street when told to leave the area, it was alleged.

Probation charge filed

Richard L. Caldwell Jr., 18, 913 Madison Ave., Madison, was arrested at Niedringhaus and Madison avenues Feb. 5 on a charge of violation of probation. A 16-year-old Granite City youth with Caldwell was arrested on a detention warrant and was transferred to the Madison County juvenile detention home in Edwardsville.

Car drags woman wiping windshield

GRANITE CITY — A 17-year-old woman was dragged several feet by her driverless car as she was trying to clean the windshield at 9:15 a.m. Feb. 2.

Christa N. Bator, 2023 Cayuga St., was standing behind the open driver's door of the auto near Jan's Hallmark store, 16 Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, when her car slipped into reverse gear. The door caught her and dragged her for several feet before it hit a concrete flower box.

FEET FIRST

RUNNING INTO TROUBLE By Dr. Claude Hiles

Neuromas, benign tumors of nerves caused by an abnormal growth of nerve cells in response to an irritation, are not uncommon among runners. Unlike the non-athlete, serious runners will develop neuromas traumatically rather than gradually over a period of time. One of the major causes of forefoot neuromas in runners is running on uneven surfaces for a fairly long period of time on a continuous basis. For example, consider the runner who runs on a banked surface five miles a day for a week. He will be putting terrible excess stress on the top of the foot because he is creating an artificial over-pronation in one foot. Running on the inside of the road can put extra pressure on the foot closest to the curb and increase its risk of injury.

Preventive care can reduce running injuries. Consider what type of running you do—speed, style, or mileage—and then buy the shoes that best suit your needs. However, when a neuroma or other running injury occurs, see a podiatrist for a professional examination and prompt treatment. Contact my office for quality family podiatric medicine. All general foot problems and sports injuries are handled. Office hours by appointment. Telephone: 877-5225, BC/BS, John Hancock, Medicare and most major insurance accepted. Good job

Judge agrees with allegations against Costello

The resident circuit judge in Randolph County said he agrees with allegations that St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello has influenced judicial appointments and traded appointments for political favors in the 20th Judicial Circuit.

Judge Carl Becker said he agrees with allegations contained in a letter mailed to newspapers by attorney Charles Hamilton accusing Costello of improper influence in the district, which includes St. Clair, Monroe, Perry, Randolph and Washington counties.

Costello is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 21st District congressional seat. "I look upon what they've done to the court system as more serious than the Greyhound operation in Chicago, because in Greyhound, they were bribing individual judges just to fix a particular traffic case or something, which is an outright crime," Hamilton said.

"What they're doing here — they're apparently not violating any criminal law — but they're making a sham and a fraud of the courts," he added. "People don't feel they can go before the courts and get a fair trial."

"In other words, they're affecting the whole judicial process. You no longer have an independent judiciary in St. Clair County."

Becker said he and other circuit judges have opposed Costello's alleged efforts to interfere with the courts.

Dave Wagner, Costello's campaign manager, said the charges are politically motivated and "absolutely absurd."

Becker, 60, and a judge for 25 years, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for election to the Supreme Court.

Becker claimed Costello planned the ouster of Patrick Fleming as the circuit's chief judge in December 1986 and offered him the position. Becker said he told Costello he did not want the position under those circumstances.

Becker said Costello later convinced then-Circuit Judge Joseph Cunningham to take the position by promising him a higher judicial post before he retired. Cunningham is now an Illinois Supreme Court justice, having been appointed to the vacancy left by the retirement last year of Joseph Goldenhersh.

Wagner called Cunningham "one of the most respected jurists in Illinois."

Becker said Cunningham could not have been appointed to the vacancy without the support of Goldenhersh, because Supreme Court justices make recommendations on filling vacancies from their districts.

Becker said he thought Goldenhersh wasn't aware of the political situation in St. Clair County and called him an "unwilling participant" in the alleged scheme.

Costello had no influence in his recommendation, Goldenhersh said.

He added Becker's comments about his role in Cunningham's appointment were "speculation."

Wagner said that if Becker had been outraged, he should have said so at the time, not 50 days before a primary election.

Parked cars damaged

John H. Painter, 53, Mt. Olive, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage Feb. 1 in the 2100 block of Johnson Road. Painter allegedly struck the parked car of Roger Boyer, 2324 State St., which was pushed against the parked car of Marlene Brandt, 2900 State St.

Brooklyn dispatcher arrested at K mart store

A Brooklyn, Ill., police dispatcher who is an auxiliary police officer was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and retail theft Feb. 6. Floyd Johnson Jr., 52, Brooklyn, was stopped by K mart security guards after he allegedly tried to leave the store with fuses. Security guards alleged finding a loaded revolver in his waistband.

He was released on $204 cash bail.

Failure to pay alleged

Joseph Michael Rowane, 61, 1938 Benton St., was arrested Feb. 5 on a warrant alleging failure to pay a fine for driving under the influence of alcohol. He was released after posting $202 bail.

DEVELOP A PHILOSOPHY ABOUT AGING

Just as each season of the year has its own distinctive character and particular beauty, so too does each stage in life have its own natural rhythms of maturation, meanings and satisfactions.

For too many years, we as a nation have worshiped youth and treated old age as a scourge, that was to be avoided at all cost.

Old age has been seen as a time when illnesses, operations and a failing vitality gang up on us, leaving us only a fraction of what we once were.

Because society has conditioned us, old age becomes for many an unwelcome and threatening season. We deny and reject it and so doing fail to see its potential value and gift to our lives.

Old age is not a time to withdraw to the sidelines and conclude that you are no longer needed. It is not a time to reflect upon what was, it is a time to think of what is. It is a time to stay open to what is around you and be actively involved as long as you are able.

As you grow older realize that you have met most of the challenges and difficulties that life can deal you and yet you have survived. In effect, you have won. Look back and claim your victory in life and what you have made of it.

You now know where you have been, what is important, what values in life are good, what you are and what are not. By now you have learned that in life it is the people who matter most, not material gains.

Old age can be one of the most meaningful and creative times of your life, if you allow it to be. Just as you don't waste one fourth of a year by withdrawing during the winter, you cannot allow one fourth of life to be wasted by withdrawing during the winter of your life. Statistically, when you reach age 65, you have 17 years of life left.

In old age you have but two options. You can give up and allow your life to gradually diminish into meaningless apathy or you can continue to grow as a person. The choice is yours and yours alone.

This is not a time to mourn what you once had, it is a time to welcome what you have now.

As the famed philosopher Albert Camus said, "In the midst of winter, I finally learned that there was in me an invincible summer." Or as that equally famous philosopher, Yogi Berra put it, "It ain't over till it's over."

Candidates discuss 21st district issues

"Defense, like it or not, is the biggest single employer in the 21st Congressional District," Mansfield said.

Fields said he favors a budget committee seat because he is experienced in handling money and could be effective there.

Asked if defense spending should be cut, Maragides said he backs freezing military spending at the current level. Costello, Fields and Mansfield support a stop.

Mansfield said there should be fewer U.S. troops stationed overseas, the eight Trident-class submarines should not be increased to 24 and the Maverick anti-tank missile should be scrapped.

Fields and Costello advocate conventional rather than nuclear defense forces. Maragides said that until there is a verifiable arms limitation treaty, nuclear weapons remain important. They provide "more wallop" than conventional forces, he said.

Mansfield said he supports limited funding for the Strategic Defense Initiative research. Maragides called the program "ridiculous."

Each candidate backs military aid to the Nicaraguan Contras.

Each candidate favors expanding the St. Louis Arch grounds to East St. Louis, but Maragides said he is not optimistic about the project due to the national budget deficit.

To help eliminate the deficit, Maragides would

Two boys struck on Nameoki Road

Two boys, 10 and 12 years of age, were struck and one was dragged 20 to 30 feet by a car sliding on the snow-covered roadway at 8:09 p.m. Wednesday.

Taken by city ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were Richard M. Cooper, 10, 2714 Buxton Ave., and Jason W. Rutter, 12, 1205 Kirkpatrick Homes. Both were admitted and were in stable condition at 8:30 a.m. today.

The driver of the car, Alvin L. Valentine Jr., 49, 1022 Logan Ave., Venice, said he was going north on Nameoki Road near Faith Avenue on the inside lane when he suddenly saw two boys run into his path from the median.

Valentine said he attempted to swerve to the right and slammed on his brakes to avoid one of the boys, who then ran into the left side of his car. The child bounced off his vehicle, spun and fell, striking his head on the median.

The second boy tried to avoid the skidding car, but slid into its path. The boy was struck by the rear of the car and left under the vehicle, which dragged him 20 to 30 feet before coming to a stop.

Neither the driver of the car nor his 11-year-old passenger were injured.

The accident was witnessed by two other boys, 13 and 14.

Park Residents upset by mobile home park

Harper asked about park maintenance. Jensen said conditions in the park, including water and sewage, are regulated by the state statutes.

He also asked to lose business if he lowers the quality of the park. Jensen said:

Wilson revoked the license of another mobile home park in the village when conditions did not meet village codes.

In the settlement, the village agreed to widen and improve Kaseberg Lane, leading from the mobile home park to Illinois on Pontoon Road, and construct a causeway over Long Lake onto Quality Sand property. Merritt questioned the cost to taxpayers.

Motor fuel tax funds will be used, Whittell said.

George Moore, 1 Sunflower Court, was concerned about property devaluation.

"You said it won't affect the price of my house, but 10 years from now if I can prove it has, what recourse would I have?" he asked.

None, Jensen replied.

Incorrect record keeping in the 1970s was the primary reason for the village being sued, Jensen said. Two contradictory ordinances were enacted involving building codes, with incorrect information provided to the developer.

The debate was sponsored by the Granite City Press-Record/Journal in conjunction with the area Suburban Journals and Granite City School District.

Moderating was Don Etling, group publisher for the Illinois Suburban Journals and Collinsville Herald-Journal publisher.

Invoking questions were David Gonnell, reporter, Press-Record/Journal; John Milazzo, reporter, Herald-Journal; Marty Richter, news editor, O'Fallon Journal; Walt Sharp, news editor, Alton Telegraph; and Bonita Tillman, editor, East St. Louis News Journal.

gressional District, said he doubted Jackson would appreciate what occurred at the rally.

"Jesse Jackson would have been upset that the people of Venice were being used in such a fashion," Russo said.

Russo said he supports Fields because he thinks Fields is closer politically to Jackson than Costello.

Something... they don't learn in school!

We are proud to have the opportunity to provide young boys and girls with the responsibility of delivering our newspaper. Responsibility and financial management are two basics that are on the job training when a boy or girl accepts a newspaper delivery route. The responsibility is great because the entire effort of very talented people depends on their delivery of the newspaper on time no matter what weather conditions or other circumstances arise. Being an independent merchant he or she is responsible financially for the payment and collection of money for newspapers delivered. We recognize the responsibilities both financial and job performance and we would like to congratulate the girls and boys who value this experience and do an excellent job of satisfying our customers.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

What happens when there is a dispute between a debtor and a creditor as to how much is due on an "account"? Sometimes debtors wonder whether they can write a check marked "payment in full" and have that satisfy the debt if it is cashed by the creditor.

In one case, an employment agency agreed to conduct a search to find an auditor for a business. The employment agency presented several candidates to the business but none of them was satisfactory. The agency claimed that it fully performed its obligations under the agreement and submitted a bill in the amount of $9,000 plus expenses.

The business, in response to the final bill from the agency, submitted a check in the amount of $6,000.48 with a letter explaining why partial payment had been made. The letter which accompanied the check indicated that the company considered this a fair fee. In addition, the company seeking the auditor noted on the back of the check itself that this check was "in full payment of any claims." The employment agency, before it cashed the check, placed on the check the words "negotiation does not release claim."

Under this set of circumstances, should the partial payment constitute payment in full of the bill? The Court in this case decided that the bill should be considered paid in full. The Court noted that where there is a bona fide dispute as to an amount due, it makes no difference if the creditor states that he does not accept the amount offered in full satisfaction. The creditor in this situation must either accept what is offered as payment in full or he must refuse the check.

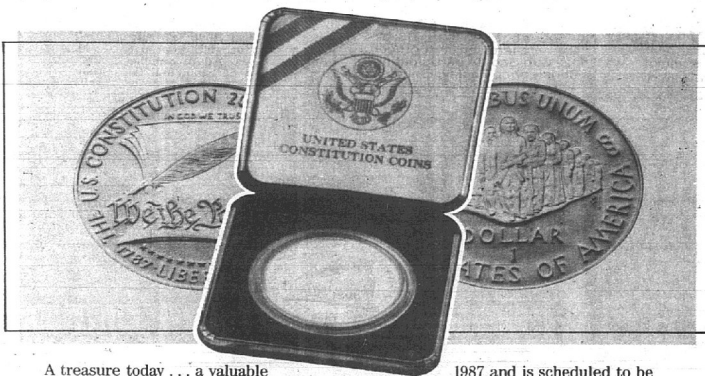

In light of this recent decision, several things should be considered by the debtor if he wishes to offer partial payment in a given case. First of all, there must be a legitimate dispute between the parties regarding the amount owed. Secondly, it would probably be best for the debtor to send a letter with his check explaining that he feels there is a dispute and outlining the nature of the dispute. It should be further noted in the letter that he is offering the enclosed check as payment in full for services rendered. Finally, it should be noted on the back of the check that negotiation of the check constitutes payment in full for any and all claims.

Auxiliary 51 reviews past programs

Future plans for activities and reports of past programs were topics at the monthly meeting of AMVETS Auxiliary 51 conducted by President Betty Wilkins.

Secretary Carol Jarrett read cards of appreciation for donations given to the Illinois Veterans Memorial Fund, Springfield, Ill., Oath and the James S. McDonnell USO.

She also read a letter from Superintendent of Schools W. Walmsley, who gave permission to the AMVETS and Auxiliary to conduct a poster and essay contest in local schools. The Town Junior AMVETS also sent a note of appreciation for help given to them at a Christmas party.

First Vice President Ann Tucker said the Auxiliary has 28 dues-paying and four new members. As hospital chairman, she reported stuffed Pound Puppies were taken to the local hospital to be given to children before surgery. She also noted taking fruit baskets to residents at the Anna Henry Nursing Home, Edwardsville.

Reports on other projects included the purchase and delivery of children's Christmas gifts to two area families, Barbara Siebert said; a review of the December Oath birthday party by Virginia Bush; and a discussion on a trip to the USO at Lambert St. Louis International Airport by Wilkins. She said AMVET Philip Manning delivered fresh fruit there, and she presented an American Flag to the Navy Reserve recruiter.

Alberta Manning Jr., AMVETS coordinator, said the youth group had donated $50 to Dreams Unlimited, which is a department AMVETS and Auxiliary support for seriously ill children of veterans.

Wilkins said a family day at the post home is planned to celebrate Valentine Day on Feb. 13, and party for new members will be hosted Feb. 27.

Parkview pack awards derby winners

Cub Pack 28, sponsored by the Parkview School PTA, held its annual Pinewood Derby in the school gym, with Pat Foote, cubmaster, in charge.

The meeting was opened by Den 4, under the guidance of Allen Wellington, who led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance, with Scouts Arley Wellington, Brandon Houser, Chris Markovich, Nicholas Huniak, Troy Tyler and Richard Whitehead.

Foote presented badges, attached to racing cars, to Webelos Chad Ashart, Brad Graves and James Stephens.

Darrell Freeman received a citizen activity badge.

Sports belt loops were presented to Mark Thomas for swimming and skating.

John Kelly received a bowling belt loop.

Cub Scout sports patches were presented to Ryan Cochran, Ryan Haddix, Jason Kaminski and John Kelly.

Paul Holloway received a denner tab.

To set the mood, Gail Wyatt's Den 3 Cub Scouts Kelly, Kaminski, Jeffrey Klee, Matthew Whitehead, Mark Thomas, Cochran and Ryan Haddix sang "Pow Wow."

7-year-old division winners were Kelly and Klee; 8, Jeff Hoenig, Jeremy Gutierrez and Houser; 9, Jeff Logsdon, Markovich, Ricky Whitehead; and, 10, Darrell Freeman, Jason Lombardi and Darren Isbrecht.

Alternate winners were Matthew Whitehead, Cochran, Greg Hoenig and Brad Graves.

Winners will compete March 5 at Belleville Area College, Granite City Campus, in the District Pinewood Derby.

Refreshments were served by Den 3.

The meeting closed with Ron Hoenig's Den 5 Cub Scouts Jeremy McKinney, Paul Holloway, Jeff and Greg Hoenig, Logsdon, Brandon Martinez, Nicholas Thomas, and Gutierrez reciting "Taps."

Retired Federal Employees review legislative action

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees held its regular monthly meeting at Charlie's Restaurant on Jan. 11, with 55 members in attendance, including one guest, Grace Burpaso.

President Gene Ross called the meeting to order. The invocation was given by Second Vice President Thara Erney.

Following lunch, Ross acknowledged new member Joe Polowich and thanked two past presidents in attendance, Larry Henghold and Harry McClintock, for their continued interest and support.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary Ruth M. Stoyanoff, and the treasurer's report was given by Helen Martin.

In the absence of First Vice President Alex Duccini, Ross reviewed legislative actions. He said that a 4.2 percent cost-of-living adjustment was included in annuity checks dated Jan. 2, and the increase in monthly health insurance premiums is reflected in checks Feb. 1.

Georgina McMillan, chapter service officer, said that a recent newsletter distributed by NARFE headquarters contained three items of particular interest.

Eligible members who reach the age of 65 and want to join Part B of Medicare should contact the Social Security Administration about the procedure to be followed for deductions.

A surviving spouse is entitled to retain health benefits upon the death of the sponsoring federal retiree. However, should the surviving spouse remarry, the new wife or husband is not entitled to the Federal Employee's Health Benefits Program.

Federal annuitants when receiving their January retirement checks noted an increase in federal taxes withheld. If a recipient wants a change in the amount withheld, he will have to request the required Form W-4 in writing or by telephoning OPM.

McMillan stressed that if charter members have any questions concerning their entitlements or responsibilities, they should feel free to telephone her.

Ross said federal retirees should keep their affairs in order to avoid confusion. Individuals designated to receive survivor benefits should be kept informed as to current procedures to be followed in the event of a retiree's death. Federal retirees should also make certain that documents on file with OPM reflect their current situations.

The group acknowledged five birthdays and a wedding anniversary celebrated during January and awarded the table prize to Riggs Weston.

The closing prayer was offered by Erney.

Any federal retiree interested in joining NARFE may call Darly Few at 797-0527.

Unihaw announces fund drive

The Unihaw District, Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, kickoff for Sustaining Membership Enrollment (SME) for family members was held Feb. 1 at the Granite City Township Hall.

The fund drive is aimed at soliciting contributions from families of Scouts. SME helps provide money to meet increasing costs of providing the Scouting program to the youth of the community.

The Unihaw District has a SME goal of $3,500. Unit SME chairmen will be contacting Scout families between now and April 6 for contributions.

Anyone interested may send donations to the Boy Scouts of America, Cahokia Mound Council Office, 2016 Delmar Ave., 62040.

Smiths announce birth of 3rd child

Mr. and Mrs. Russell (Pamela) Smith, 3941-Lake St., Pookoon Beach, are announcing the birth of a daughter, born Dec. 13, at Anderson Hospital, Maryville.

The infant weighed 8 pounds, 14 ounces, and was named Kimberly Dawn. She has a brother, Russell Jacob, 7, and a sister, Katie Marie, 4.

Maternal grandparents are Shirley Evans, Granite City, and the late Earl Dean Evans Sr. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Julius (Betty) Smith, Collinsville.

Suttons announce daughter's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Joel (Kathi) Sutton, Collinsville, are the parents of a daughter born Jan. 26 at Anderson Hospital, Maryville.

The baby was named Megan Elizabeth. She weighed 9 pounds, 10 ounces. She measured 21½ inches.

Maternal grandparents are Marvin and Margaret Pansa, East Alton, and paternal grandmother is Jeardine Sutton, Wood River. Great-grandparents are Burl and Helen Powell, South Roxana, formerly of Granite City.

Cubs present awards in school's cafeteria

St. Margaret Mary's Cub Scout Pack 103 held its December meeting in the school cafeteria Den 4 Bear Scouts opened the proceedings with a flag ceremony.

Bear Scout leader Kathy Weissenborn presented Den 4 Bear Scout Shannon Gibson with a bowling belt loop.

Den 2 Bear leaders Dale and Karen Mangiaracino presented one red recognition bead to Bucky Prazma, Danny Lusick, Michael Halbrook, Matt Laws, and Mark Dittman, and two red beads to Matthew McBride and Kris Mangiaracino. Bear badges were awarded to Kris Mangiaracino and Mark Dittman, who also earned one gold arrow point.

Den 3 Wolf leaders Tina Sanchez and Vicki Boyd presented one yellow recognition bead to Bobby Harris, Adam Sanchez and Richard Serrano, and two beads to Bobby, Boyd and Tim Dittman.

Each boy gave his parents a gift he made.

Gertrude Luebben presented Cubmaster John Kulasza with the new pack charter. Cub Scouts identification cards were then presented to all members.

Honor unit patches were awarded to all members of the pack during the past school year. Boys receiving patches were: Den 1, Jacob Atchley, Kevin Feigenbutz, Ronnie York, Keith Miller and Keith Seir; Den 2, Mark Dittman, Michael Halbrook, Matt Laws, Danny Lusick, Kris Mangiaracino, Mat McBride, Aaron Meyer, Buddy Prazma, James Rooney and Derrick Webb; Den 4, Shannon Gibson, Tim Goskie, Robert Lampitt, Andrew Oney, Corey Shephard and Matt Weissenborn.

Den ribbons were given to Dale and Karen Mangiaracino and Kathy Weissenborn.

A pin for participation in all three summer pack activities went to Den 4 members Shannon Gibson, Tim Goskie, Andrew Oney, Corey Shephard and Matt Weissenborn, and Den 2 members Michael Halbrook, Kris Mangiaracino and Matt McBride.

Mark Dittman, Aaron Meyer, Chris Sumpter and Tim Dittman received flashlights for soliciting donations to benefit the pack.

Christmas carols were sung, and each boy gave a candle, good and present to be donated to needy families.

Leaders then presented each boy with a pinewood derby car kit. Cubmaster Kulasza explained the derby rules and solicited volunteers for a derby committee for the coming race.

Treasurer Tom Miller read the financial report.

Open house marks Shipley christening

Beth Anne Shipley, 8-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Margaret) Shipley, 2457 Hodges Ave., was christened Jan. 17 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church by the Rev. Casimir Kicmal.

Godparents were the baby's aunt and uncle, Bill and Mary Ann Schnefke, Ballwin, Mo. After the ceremony an open house was held at the Shipley home.

Those attending included the baby's great-grandmother, Margaret Fecurka, Madison; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schnefke; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shipley, Staunton.

One of our own, Gary King, 20, 3039 Mockingbird Lane, a part-time employee of the Press-Record/Journal, finished third out of 176 college students in the Editorial Writing Competition of the 28th annual William Randolph Hearst Foundation Journalism Awards Program. King is a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. His major is journalism and his minor is business management.

Holes in your pockets?

Catherine R. Mauck, home economics adviser for the University of Illinois Extension Service, notes that most of us have seen the bumper sticker that reads, "My take-home pay won't take me home." Mauck's point is that consumers need to be alert to the warning signs of potential credit problems, and she suggests watching out for paying half your bills one month and then the next, not keeping current on 30-day charges, letting monthly installment payments exceed 20 percent of take-home pay and borrowing money to pay expenses you know will come due periodically, like income taxes or insurance premiums.

Business Week observed

Feb. 7-13 is National Business in Education Week. Sanford-Brown Business College reminded us last week.

Charity still pays, especially in '87

Americans are a generous bunch. Consider the following statistics:

The average American household contributes $650 a year to charities. Individuals give about 28 percent of all private contributions that philanthropic organizations receive. Eighty-one percent of all Americans believe it is the responsibility of individuals to contribute what they can to charitable organizations. Further, 51 percent of all women and 45 percent of men do volunteer work. Impressive statistics by any standard.

Although the 1986 Tax Reform Act includes a number of changes governing charitable deductions, charities nationwide are hopeful that their efforts will continue to receive the support of Americans.

Beginning with income taxes for 1987, charitable contributions will be deductible only if deductions are itemized. Fewer taxpayers will itemize as a result of the larger standard deduction, making fewer eligible to deduct contributions. If you find that you occasionally itemize deductions, consider grouping contributions in a year when you will itemize.

Lower Tax Rates:

As tax rates begin to drop this year, gifts will — in effect — cost more because the tax benefit of the contribution is reduced by the lower tax rates.

As an example, if a person in the 35 percent tax bracket chooses to donate $500 to his or her church or synagogue in 1987, a tax savings of $175 was generated. If the person makes the same donation in 1988 while in the 28 percent tax bracket, his or her taxes will be reduced by only $140. Those taxpayers in high tax brackets in both years stood to gain the most from making donations in 1987, rather than in 1988.

With tax reform lowering the value of charitable donations, you will want to be sure you are claiming all the charitable deductions to which you are entitled. The law allows you to deduct gifts made to most religious, educational, social welfare and health groups.

But remember some groups that are tax-exempt themselves do not qualify for tax-deductible gifts. An organization can tell you if it is qualified or you may contact your local IRS office which has a book that lists qualifying organizations.

If you contribute to a charity and you receive a benefit (that is, goods or services) from it, you may deduct only the amount that is above and beyond the fair-market value of the benefit.

TAXES

The average American household contributes $650 a year to charities.

you receive.

If you do volunteer work, you may deduct your unreimbursed expenses. But you may not deduct baby-sitting costs or the value of a year's time.

Contributing property
The tax benefit of donating property that has appreciated in value is almost always greater than contributing cash. You may contribute stock, real estate, art or other assets.

Generally, the law allows you to claim a deduction for the full fair-market value of the property you donate to a qualified organization. The fair-market value is the price that the property would sell for on the open market.

If you are not sure how to determine the fair-market value, consult a tax expert or refer to IRS Publication 561, "Determining the Value of Donated Property."

In order to deduct the fair-market value, you must have held the appreciated property for more than six months.

By donating a long-term asset in 1987, you got to take a tax deduction for the fair-market value and you avoided the capital gains tax you would have paid if you sold it. If you donated an asset you held for six months or less, your deduction was limited to your "basis"—usually the amount you paid for it.

One caution regarding donations of appreciated property: The appreciation on donated property is considered a "preference" item and, as such, may subject a taxpayer to the Alternative Minimum Tax. The Alternative Minimum Tax generally applies to wealthy taxpayers who have greatly reduced their liability by using certain deductible expenses and special tax preferences.

There is no rule of thumb as to who is affected by the AMT because there are many variables involved. But, in general, the tax may affect upper-income donors who make an especially large non-cash gift or who claim substantial amounts of other deductions.

Most people do not have enough tax preference items to be subject to the AMT. But if you are considering making an exceptionally large donation, you should discuss the plan with a knowledgeable tax professional prior to making the donation.

If the value of your non-cash gift is more than $500 but does not exceed $5,000, you must complete Section A of IRS form 8283. Gifts of publicly traded stock worth more than $500 should be listed in this section. If you donate a non-cash item or a group of similar items that have a total value of more than $5,000, a written appraisal from a "qualified appraiser" must be attached to the return. (This rule does not apply to publicly traded securities.) In addition, Section B of IRS Form 8283 must be completed by you, the organization that received the gift and the qualified appraiser you select.

Because the tax impact of charitable contributions varies from donor to donor, consult with a tax expert to determine the best strategy for making contributions.

Business week

PROCLAMATION: In support of National Education for Business Week, Feb. 7-13, Mayor Von Dee Cruise signs a proclamation while Carl Thunell and Susan Siemslus, representatives of Sanford-Brown Business College, wait to accept the document. Thunell is placement director of the college and Siemslus is college director.

Series to teach women business savvy

A series of lectures aimed at helping women gain financial and management skills will begin Feb. 24 with a program on "Women in Business."

The series is the idea of the Small Business Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and is being co-sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber, the Granite City Business and Professional Women's organization and the Belleville Area College Business Assistance Center.

The February program, to be presented by Mary Walsh, will include the topics: "Self-Motivation," "Winning Principles," "Why Some Women Fail" and "Getting Your Foot in the Door."

Walsh is a business and training representative at Belleville Area College. She received her bachelor's degree in business administration from McKendree College in 1984. She is a candidate for a master's degree in business administration at Fontbonne College, St. Louis. She teaches principles of advertising at BAC.

The program will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 314 at the Granite City Campus of BAC. The fee will be $15 or $10 for members of sponsoring organizations or additional family members. For more information, call 878-6400.

Other programs to be held are: March 10, "How to Start a Business"; March 24, "Developing a Business Plan"; April 5, "Retailing to Increase Sales"; and April 14, "Preparing for a Bank Loan."

Seminar for fee appraisers

The Southwestern Chapter of the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers will sponsor a half-day seminar on professional standards.

The NAIFA "Professional Standards" seminar, offered Feb. 13 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Collinsville Hotel, is designed to meet the mandatory Professional Standards Program. All NAIFA members are required to take this during each recertification cycle.

The seminar has been approved by the NAIFA for four hours of recertification credit for designated NAIFA members.

Tuition is $35. Meals are not included. A student manual will be furnished at the seminar.

The NAIFA is a non-profit, professional society of real estate appraisers dedicated to raising the standards of the professional and to gaining recognition for members as qualified appraisers.

With a membership of over 5,000, the NAIFA maintains chapters throughout the United States and Canada. The NAIFA has a mandatory recertification program whereby all designated members are required to attend educational programs as a condition of continuing professional membership in the association.

Information about the "Professional Standards" seminar is available from course coordinator Gary Hall at 234-0400 or 397-0314 or from the NAIFA national office at 7501 Murdoch, St. Louis, Mo. 63119, (314) 781-6888.

Ask Mr. Meltzer

By Bernard Meltzer

Realty brokers responsible for giving misinformation

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I am a real estate broker involved in a situation that I've never experienced. When I listed a certain property for sale, I asked the seller about the condition of the heater and whether the basement had any leaks or had ever flooded.

I was assured by the seller that everything was in perfect condition—that the heater was fine and the basement was as dry as a bone. I, in turn, gave this information to the buyer. After the closing, the buyer found that the heater had to be replaced and the basement periodically flooded.

Now I'm being sued for $6,000. I relied on the seller and the information I gave out was wrong. Am I responsible?

Answer: Until recent years, a broker could list the property and rely on what the seller told him. But there is a new trend in most states now.

It goes something like this: A real estate broker is a licensed professional and therefore has profound knowledge of his profession.

If he says, "The heater is in excellent condition" and it is not, then the broker is liable for misrepresentation and he can be sued.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The water leak in my bathroom developed quickly into a very big problem and I called my landlord. He called a plumber. The plumber did not do a very good job, and one night the leak came back in full force and caused $800 worth of damage. The landlord said, "Don't blame me, blame the plumber. He did the work, not me." He said if I sue, I should sue the plumber. Who do I sue?

Answer: It is true the landlord did not do the work but it is his house and he hired the contractor. Therefore, in this case, you can sue both the landlord and the plumber.

When the suit is against the landlord because he is easiest to get at and generally is easier to collect damages from.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The building in which I live has four apartments. The city has an ordinance that says, "The sidewalk must be cleared of snow in 24 hours."

When the snow comes down, we always fight about which of the four has to clear the sidewalk. I live on the third floor so I say, "Not me." I maintain it's the fellow on the first floor who should do it. Whose feet get wet?

Answer: Since it is a multifamily dwelling, the landlord is responsible. However, the landlord can pass the responsibility on by putting a clause in his leases saying the tenants have to clear the snow. If the tenants fail to do so, the landlord becomes responsible.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My landlord is against marriage. The tenants are being asked to sign a lease which says, "If you get married, the lease is null and void." I plan to be married in three months and do not want to give up my apartment. Will I be kicked out?

Answer: No. A clause in a lease against marriage would be considered against the public interest and is not enforceable.

Names taken for column on business

The Press-Record is out to prove a business page doesn't have to be stuffy to be informative.

Jack C. Ventimiglia, executive editor for East Side Publishing, parent company of the Press-Record, seeks to put the names of people into a weekly business column, "Business Notes," to recognize their accomplishments.

The business page, and the "Business notes" column, are developments of simply recognizing that hundreds of businesses and their employees deserve to be reached in the newspaper with a page designed for them.

In the column, the names of people, what they've done and for whom they work will be printed. "Accomplishments" will be broadly interpreted to include those who have received promotions, were named employees of the month, joined the company, received an award, and so on.

Information presented in writing would be helpful, but the same brief description can be taken over the phone by calling Ventimiglia at 877-7700.

Magna getting bigger

WASHINGTON — Magna Group Inc., Belleville, owners of two Granite City banks, has purchased two more banks, bringing to 19 the number of banks it operates in central and southern Illinois, according to filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Magna acquired McLean County Bancshares and a week earlier bought First National Bank of Wood River.

Gary Hemmer, vice president for administration for Magna, said the company plans to continue to make acquisitions that fit with our objectives." He said Magna's "overall earnings per share have gone up."

Hemmer described the company's most recent acquisitions as small banks with good management and good growth potential. Bloomington-based McLean Bancshares, a holding company for two Illinois banks, has assets of $22.8 million, deposits of $87 million and stockholders' equity of $27 million.

Magna will issue 1.76 of its own common shares for every McLean share. With about 170,000 shares outstanding, the acquisition cost Magna about $5.1 million at the Feb. 1 stock close of $17.25 a share.

The Wood River purchase totaled $14.5 million.

The Wood River and Bloomington banks have an expanded trust services, new club accounts, and a new, wide-range automated teller machine system. The Magna group plans to offer discount stock brokerage services.

The company paid Wood River stockholders 20,958 Magna common shares for each Wood River share. The bank and Magna valued the Wood River shares at $330.36 each.

Wood River has $104.9 million in assets, $91.6 million in deposits and $11.45 million in stockholders' equity, Hemmer said.

In making the Wood River and

'Overall earnings per share have gone up.' — Gary Hemmer

McLean purchases, Magna added $200 million to its list of assets, which had totaled $1.7 billion as of Sept. 30, 1987. Magna paid for the companies with approximately $20 million worth of common stock, Hemmer said.

On Sept. 30, 1987, Magna Group had deposits of $1.541 billion and stockholder equity of $120.23 million. Magna Group operates Magna Bank N.A. and Magna Bank of Granite City.

Magna last year bought two Granite City banks: the First Granite City National Bank, now Magna Bank of Granite City, and the Colonial Bank of Granite City.

Consumer tips

By Neil F. Hartigan
Illinois Atty. Gen.

Q. What is "bait" advertising?
A. More commonly known as "bait and switch," this is one of the most blatant examples of fraud in advertising and sales.

In a "bait and switch" scheme, an item is advertised at a very low price as "bait" for the consumer. The purpose of the "bait" is to lure the consumer to the store.

Once in the store, the consumer is "switched" from the advertised merchandise to something else, usually more expensive.

This deceptive type of advertising consists of an attractive but insincere offer to sell a product or service which the seller in truth, does not intend or desire to sell.

Q. From time to time I drive by a local store and see signs for a "going-out-of-business sale." The store remains open the year round. Is it legal for them to advertise this way?

A. Illinois law requires that a person wishing to conduct a going-out-of-business sale must give notice to the municipality or county in which the sale is to be conducted and requires that be sold to inventory all goods he intends to sell in order to make sure the sale is not being used to market other goods.

Finally, a business conducting a going-out-of-business sale must indeed go out of business within 60 days unless special circumstances would permit an extension. Remember, that even in the case of a going-out-of-business sale, one should carefully compare the price of the items with prices available elsewhere or at other times.

Mounds eyes Grandpa's

Although the Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site is interested in acquiring the Grandpa's Discount Store property west of Collinsville, there is little chance the possibility will materialize, said the site's supervisor, Margaret Brown.

Tom Holley, president of the St. Louis-based Gramex Corp., which owns the discount store, said negotiations are still under way to move the store's operation to a building which formerly housed K mart at 9525 Collinsville Road, Collinsville.

Holley said Gramex could be close to wrapping up the final details on the negotiations.

Grandpa's, 8011 Collinsville Road, has been one of the areas on the Cahokia Mounds master management plan for potential acquisition, according to Bob Coomer, superintendent of historic sites for the state's Historic Preservation Agency.

Coomer, like Brown, viewed the likelihood of the state acquiring the store and land as dim. "It's something we have a great interest in, but at the same time we do not have the funding to make the acquisition."

Coomer said the state agency would need legislative action to appropriate additional funds to purchase the Grandpa's site and "we are hearing there's not a lot of money to go forward on new programs."

But if State Sen. Sam Vadala-bene, D-Edwardsville, has his way, the state agency will receive the funds to purchase the land if Grandpa's moves. The senator said he will talk to the Historic Preservation Agency's director, Michael Devine, about the possibility.

Vadala-bene expects that other state legislators would support the measure to acquire the land. In addition to buying Grandpa's property, Brown said, the state would spend as much as $500,000 to demolish the building and haul away the debris to reach archaeological finds in the earth below.

Two mounds — built by the ancient Indian civilization that once populated this region — were leveled to make room for Grandpa's about 29 years ago, said Brown.

To group or not to group?

Ask any old-timer and he probably will recall "walking miles through the snow" to reach school in his youth.

Such hardy pioneers wonder why today's youngsters wonder about weather and distance when setting out for school.

Nevertheless, parents are concerned about students' continued ability to get to their public school classes in Granite City District 9.

That concern might block approval of a "grouping" proposal, involving converting eight elementary schools into four primary (kindergarten through third grade) and four intermediate (fourth through sixth grade) buildings.

NIEDRINGHAUS' and Parkview schools are nearing capacity with their present geographic boundaries. The primary-intermediate plan would double the eight schools' attendance areas, but would give the more crowded schools increased flexibility in handling enrollment growth.

Pairings of future primary and intermediate schools, if the proposal is approved, would be Mitchell-Maryville, Parkview-Wilson, Frohardt-Marshall and Niedringhaus-Webster.

To make the plan work, five Wilson classrooms would be made available by moving current special education classes to other buildings.

Because Frather is such a large structure (a former junior high now used as an elementary school), it would continue to serve kindergarten and first

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

through sixth grade classes.

TRANSPORTATION of students would increase, due to the wider attendance areas.

Since the school system is responsible for hauling pupils who live more than a mile and a half from the school they attend, bus costs would rise an estimated $31,000 a year. School officials say this cost would be "easily offset by better control of average class size."

About a fifth of the families would have children in more than one school due to the change. Paired schools would have "joint PTAs, holiday programs and skating parties."

Parents would be encouraged to take an interest in both of the paired schools. To ease the transition from third to fourth grade, third graders would visit the intermediate center several times during the year.

NO DECISION has been made to proceed, officials are emphasizing.

Remaining 7 p.m. meetings for parents are set for Mitchell School today, Frohardt Feb. 15, Marshall Feb. 16, Maryville Feb. 18, Frather Feb. 22 and Webster Feb. 23.

Superintendent Gilbert Walmsley says he won't recommend it is the correct step and that it has broad teacher-parent support. The board hasn't taken a stand but may be more positive about this plan than the "middle school" concept, in which sixth through eighth graders attend the same school.

BETTER EDUCATED children are promised. The district would try to "fine-tune" the instruction in line with the differences between younger and older elementary-age pupils.

Administrators attribute a trend toward primary-intermediate separation to "the improved ability to group students by achievement and the significantly improved communication among teachers."

Madison, Mascoutah, Sparta, Mount Carmel and Carbondale educators say achievement is up sharply, "nearly doubling" in Sparta.

ALSO CITED by proponents is "the ability to establish discipline procedures more appropriate to the age of the children."

Use of such teachers as music, resource, gifted, learning center and remedial teachers can more easily meet pupils' needs at separated schools, it is felt, and instructional materials can be better utilized.

Also, playgrounds can be supplied more easily with appropriate recreational equipment.

And, an intermediate school of four or more classrooms in each grade can choose to team-teach or departmentalize in subjects that lend themselves to this teaching method.

Proverbs 6:2 "How are shared with the words of my mouth."

Trapped by our own conversation. Brought into mental bondage and held there by the words of our mouths. Even small problems are magnified by continual discussion of them.

Avoiding problems will not cause them to disappear. We must think and talk of solutions, not problems.

With God all things are possible. Say these words out loud. Repeat them until you feel like God will make a way for you. Read your Bible. Study the miracles that God wrought for his followers. He is not a respecter of persons. He will do for us what He has done for others.

God is able, willing, and ready to help you. Believe it. Confess it. Today.

ic. Mary Cromer, Katie Obucina, Katy Brunetic and Adele Wasylik.

The Quilting Club met at the home of Vera Sikora.

Breakfast was provided by Mary Venorsky. A morning of games followed.

Others attending were Marie Szymcek, Mary Ann Bunk, Mary Domanski, Catherine Measki, Catherine Orris and Katie Suich.

The Happy Strings Parents and Boosters met at the Croation Home.

New officers elected were: president, George Amisch; vice president, Pat Hartman; secretary, Gloria Garcia; and treasurer, Mary Ann Petrunch.

Director Marilyn Boser is preparing a program for the group's upcoming performance at the Croatian Junior Cultural Federation Festival to be held in July in Milwaukee.

The Junior and Senior Tam-burizans performed a Christmas Polka program, with Herb Eberle, at the White House in St. Louis.

Others attending the meeting were: Kim Obremski, Joan and Tony Butkovich, Bill and JoAnn Gushleff, John and Diane Bell-coff, Ann Mejski, Mary Krnjovich, Judy Modrusic, Margaret Amisch and Cindy Yoboy.

Scouting coordinator Bill Fox has announced the formation of "co-sponsors" for Explorer Post 10-4.

Sponsoring organizations will be the Madison Police P.B. and P.A. 110, Friends for Scouting (an organization mostly composed of 10-4 alumni) and the Granite City Police Department.

Bill Weidner, who has been serving as post advisor, has moved to the position of committee chairman. Officer Curt Walkenback, of the Granite City Police Department, will take Weidner's place as advisor.

Thomas Hooks, alumni and one of the six founding members of 10-4, is president of Friends for Scouting.

Family Night will be held at the Madison Recreation Center on Feb. 24.

The post has three new members, Steve Martin, Perry Bone and Steve Hoppe, all of Granite City.

The Council Exploring Committee held an officer training seminar Jan. 16 in Edwardsville. Officers of 10-4 were in attendance and learned what is expected of them. Jerry Carby, post vice president, was elected Explorer Officer Association vice president.

The post attended the St. Louis Council Ski Event at Hidden Valley. Mrs. Carby and Mark Foley provided transportation.

Madison seniors met at the Madison Recreation Center on Jan. 29.

Lunch was served and a birthday card was signed for Fredah Green. A decorated cake was provided by the honoree.

"Happy Birthday" was sung. President Genevieve McClure placed a crown on Green's head and pinned a corsage on her. Pictures of the event were taken by Dorothy Vasiloff.

An afternoon of games followed, with 65 in attendance.

Billie and Court Bosworth, Madison, and Sandra and Vernon Pumphrey, Granite City, have returned from a vacation in Las Vegas, Nev. This is the second trip the couples have made to Las Vegas together to celebrate their wedding anniversaries. A dinner at Caesar's Palace marked Bosworth's 38th and Pumphrey's 38th anniversaries.

A surprise birthday dinner was held Feb. 7 for Rose Krystopa, a former Madison resident, at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Lynn and Mark Whitney, St. Louis.

After dinner, gifts were opened and dessert served to her husband, Joe; daughter and son-in-law, Joan and Brian Hartwick, and children, Jennifer and David; Carbondale; son, Dennis Krystopa, his wife, Janet, and their daughter, Ann; and Eric Smith; Rich and Gerry Mender; and daughter, Toni; Ed and Kathy Dohnal and daughter, Linda.

Madison Middle School held an awards assembly Jan. 29 to honor those on the honor roll and those with perfect attendance.

A new award has been started called the Bug Roll (bringing up grades). Students who raised their grades received book-marks prepared by teacher Barbara Cox.

Regina Forsys, director of the Polish Hall Dance group, has announced a benefit Valentine's dance to be held Feb. 13 at the Polish Hall. The Remede Polka Band will play from 9 to 12 p.m. On Feb. 14, a dance will be held from 2 to 6 p.m., with the JJ Polka Band.

The Gateway Sounds of Sweet Adelines held its "Guest Night" on Feb. 1 at Our Lord's Lutheran Church, Illinois 159 and Interstate 70.

Present were 40 members and four guests. Entertaining were the quartets, Stardust and Uptage.

The group is practicing for a regional competition, which will be held in April in Peoria.

The Sweet Adelines are sponsoring a fund-raising pizza sale. Orders can be made by calling 931-5390. The pizzas will be made by the members and delivered Feb. 20.

The Rev. and Mrs. Willard Myers, 541 Margaret Ave., hosted a dinner for their son, Kevin Myers, and his fiancée, Nancy Smith, on Feb. 1. The couple is planning an October wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. David (Daisy) Ferguson, 2519 Meadowlane Drive, were hosts to Mrs. Ferguson's brother, David Bennett, and his wife, Candace, Cobden, Ill., who visited overnight before going to Hawaii. The Fergusons accompanied them to St. Louis International Airport, where the Bennetts boarded a flight for a 10-day trip.

Mrs. Bill (Clarice) Rife, 23B Wanda Drive, is home from Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

Mr. Francis (Buz) Rife, 23A Wanda Drive, is recuperating in Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, after undergoing heart by-pass surgery Feb. 6. Cards may be sent to Room 2208.

Simon, Gephardt win many friends, influence delegates

On Monday night, the national spotlight fell on Iowa. And Iowa responded.

In the state's large cities and small farm towns, people gathered at caucus meetings to stand up for the Democratic presidential candidate of their choice. When the dust settled, U.S. Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., was the winner by a slim margin over Illinois Sen. Paul Simon and Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis.

To sample Iowa politics at the grassroots level, the Suburban Journals sent reporters to several southern Iowa cities to observe the caucus process.

KEOKUK, Iowa — The caucus battle between Gephardt and Simon in the Iowa city closest to both Missouri and Illinois was a draw.

Keokuk is surrounded by Illinois Sen. Simon's territory to the east and Missouri Rep. Gephardt's turf to the west. Both candidates worked the area in person and each garnered eight delegates from Keokuk's 1st Precinct, which doled out a total of 18. With two delegates uncommitted, Simon and Gephardt came out of the precinct in a tie.

More than 70 people braved freezing temperatures to crowd into the mucky community room at the State Central Bank on Main Street.

Monday was Dorothy Shottwell's first time at a Democratic caucus. She had mainly voted Republican before, but likes what Simon has to offer.

"I just like what he stands for," Shottwell said. "He's inspirational and has a lot of confidence. I like his morals."

There was shouting, a smidgen of hickering and a problem with the count before the delegates were determined.

"You're counting yourself twice, just like the last time," screamed one of the local Democratic leaders at the Gephardt group.

After the Gephardt and Simon camps were set, supporters of

STRONG SHOWING IN IOWA

Sen. Paul Simon

Dukakis, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt threw in together to form a viable, uncommitted group that drew two delegates.

OTTUMWA, Iowa — A record-breaking crowd of both old and young filled the Ottumwa High School cafeteria for the 7th Precinct caucus.

And when the 78 people finished jockeying their votes, Gephardt and Dukakis each received two delegates and Babbitt earned one.

Simon failed to receive the 15 percent required for viability in Ottumwa, a town of 27,000 people about 40 miles from the Missouri border.

Elmer Robinson, 69, said he cast his vote for Gephardt because, "when he talks to you, he looks you in the eye."

Retired John Deere employee Carl Dowd and wife Willie were sold on Gephardt after hearing him speak to the United Auto Workers last week.

"Gephardt is going to take Social Security out of the budget and get it away from all those sticky fingers," Carl Dowd said.

His wife, dressed in black leather pants and a bright green sweater covered with colored glass studs, said Gephardt was the only candidate for her.

"He did not have to read his speeches," she said. "I was kind of unimpressed with all of the others — but I was really impressed with Dick Gephardt." Simon supporter William Wignall, 62, said he didn't like the Gephardt hype.

"There was too much of the rah, rah, apple pie... they even referred to the Gephardts as Dick and Jane without a dog named Spot," Wignall said.

"I think Mr. Simon is a cool cat. He won't panic; and, if elected, he will bring an honest and productive crop of people to Washington," he said.

Marion, Ill., native David Crawford, 21, a senior at Northeastern Missouri State University, Kirksville, was working for Simon at the Ottumwa caucus.

Even with the night's disappointing finish, Crawford is keeping the faith.

"Simon is going to win," Crawford said. "We are not going to take second."

JACKSON TOWNSHIP, Iowa — "Inevitable" was the verdict on supporters of Gephardt, Hart and Dukakis in Jackson Township.

On a night when Simon ran second statewide, he ruled the roost in Jackson Township.

Six of the eight delegates who will represent the farming community north of Keokuk will cast their votes for Simon. Two delegates will attend the March 28 Lee County convention still "undecided."

Retired farmer/factory worker Gail Peters said Simon was

"more experienced, a little more stable than most of the candidates."

Much of Simon's support seemed to stem from the Jackson Township precinct's proximity to the candidate's home state — less than three miles away.

"He's a neighbor," said Wilbert Colemanger, a local farmer. Gephardt garnered two supporters from the 40 Democrats present. Jackson Township boasts 1,306 registered Democrats.

"Dick Gephardt listened better than the rest," housewife Harriet Kelly said. "He seemed to care about our problems."

Jeff Morningstar, 25, said many people who originally supported Gephardt had lost enthusiasm as "he changed from a liberal to a moderate almost overnight."

"He jumped from bandwagon to bandwagon trying to be president at any cost, almost like running for the office was just a whim," he said.

Mary Taylor, 25, a part-time student and part-time journalist, said Gephardt had appeared a "little too tough" on his recent visits to Keokuk.

"We need a man with some heart," she said.

BLOOMFIELD, Iowa — In this central Iowa farm town 10 miles north of the Missouri border, Gephardt walked away with the majority of delegates at five caucuses in the Davis County Courthouse.

and it was far from a landslide.

In two wards, Gephardt gained 13 of the 17 delegates but Simon, Babbitt and Dukakis all won delegates as well.

Most of Gephardt's backers said they liked his stand on the issues — and his honesty and Midwest background seemed to stand out.

"He's a Midwesterner. He's done his duty in Congress and understands our needs," said Marion Eakens of Bloomfield.

Wayne Bridgman agreed, describing Gephardt as "his man."

"He's the answer of the country. He's a poor man and an honest man," Bridgman said.

But others had their doubts about his sincerity.

Robert Enlow said he believed the Missourian was "wishy washy" on the issues. Enlow, a Babbitt supporter, lost an opportunity to represent Davis County as a delegate when he refused to join the Gephardt backers.

Instead he stood his ground as the others called out for him to join the Gephardt gang.

"I'm not going to do it," Enlow said. "He does not stay firm on the issues. He changes his views to please the people he's talking to. He's just not sincere."

Other residents of Bloomfield were not so harsh concerning Gephardt.

"He's OK, but I like Simon better. I don't like Gephardt's stand on trade, or on the budget," Helen Ball said.

A total of 250 Democrats attended the five caucuses. Many expressed relief that the national spotlight now would be focused somewhere other than Iowa.

"It was interesting listening to everyone they had to say, but I'm glad it's over," Ball said. "I enjoyed it for a while, but it's time for it to end."

Red Devils wrap up conference crown

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

VENICE — Although it was far from a typical night at the Venice High School gym, the end result was a very familiar one.

Whereas the Red Devils usually score 75 points at the very least in a home game, they had only 59. But that was enough for a 99-50 win over a scrappy East St. Louis Assumption team.

While the score wasn't typical for a home game, the win clinched the Illini-Gateway Conference for the Red Devils.

That's very typical. The Devils have won the conference each of the five years since its inception, losing only one league game in the first round. Admittedly the conference isn't very strong, but it was a mission that had to be accomplished. And the Devils can feel they had to work hard to clinch.

"We were playing their type of ball in the first half," coach

Clinton Harris said. "We were in a 2-3 zone and they were just playing slow. But we went into a man-to-man and got some fast breaks later."

But they never really broke it open. Venice carried a precarious 38-34 lead into the final quarter. Four times they increased the lead to six only to see the Pioneers cut it to four. Hosea King's layup off a pass from Dale Turner (eight assists) made it 50-42. But Michael Stewart, who had 18 points on six three-pointers, cut it back to 50-45 with a long one. But Turner and Carlos Briggs combined to hit seven of eight free throws in the final minute and Briggs added a breakaway slam to hold the Pioneers off.

"I feel very good about this one," said first-year Pioneer coach Ron Woods. "It feels great to come into this gym and play them tough. Venice is a great team and it's very difficult to play them close here."

In fact, the Pioneers gave the Devils a tougher time than they did in East St. Louis on Jan. 8, when Venice won 76-59. In that game, the Pioneers' 6-6 sophomore center, Ian Stanback, had 27 points, but Assumption couldn't score from outside. On Tuesday, Stewart bombed away from outside and Milton Dixon had 19 points, but Stanback was held to five.

"The first time we played them their inside game was working," Harris said. "If they can put it together, they will be a big factor in the regional." The win was Venice's fourth in a row. They are 15-5 overall and 7-0 in the conference. Assumption fell to 13-6 overall and 4-2 in the league.

"Maybe the third time is a charm," Woods said of a possible meeting with the Red Devils at the Duplo Regional. "Clinton played it smart tonight. He clogged up the middle and made it hard for Stanback. But he's just a sophomore and we have other young players. We're still learning."

Daryl Jackson led Venice with 17 points and 12 rebounds, while Turner added 15 points and added eight to his area-leading assist total.

The game was tied at 18-18 before a 9-4 Venice run at the end of the half including Jackson's slam dunk.

The Pioneers made only four field goals in the third quarter, but three of them were Stewart three-pointers. But Lionel Wiley made sure Stewart stayed outside. Stewart drove in for a short shot and Wiley blocked the ball literally into the sixth row of the stands.

But the Devils made only 5 of 15 shots in the quarter and couldn't pull away until the late free throws by Turner and Briggs.

"We tried to put pressure on them inside and they hit some outside shots to stay with us," Harris said. "But if they put things together, they will be a team to reckon with."

NOTES: This could be the last Illini-Gateway Conference crown for Venice. Harris said with the dissolving of the Worden school district and Livingston pulling out, the conference will likely be disbanded next year. Harris prefers being in a conference, but the Devils won't schedule more Class AA schools. Venice plays at Cairo on Friday. The Devils were one of only two teams to beat the Devils on the court last year.

Lady Warriors out in 1st round

By Gary King

EAST ST. LOUIS — No player made more noise on the basketball court than Jennifer Cavness did Tuesday. And no player's absence spoke as loudly, either.

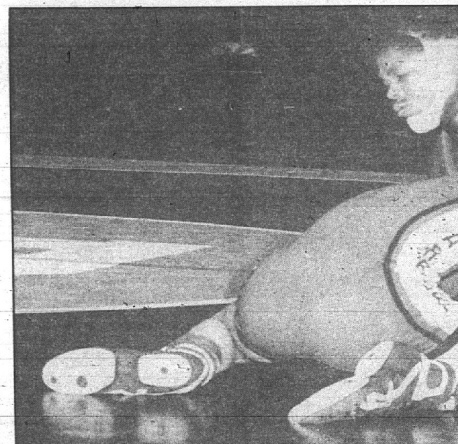

In what could be termed a second-guesser's delight, the East St. Louis Flyettes took advantage of Cavness' absence and ended Granite City's season with a 58-48 win in the first round of the East St. Louis Regional. Cavness, the Warriors' 6-6 sophomore center, scored seven quick first-quarter points to give Granite City a 7-3 lead before being whittled for her third personal foul with one minute left in the first quarter.

Cavness returned to the Warrior lineup in the fourth quarter to score 12 of her 19 points, but it was a stereotypical case of too little, too late.

In Cavness' absence, the East St. Louis front line duo of Tina Gresham and Antoinette Hinkle had ambushed the Warriors' inside defense for a host of easy layups and short jumpers. By the time the dust settled, Gresham had collected 25 points and Hinkle had chipped in 10.

The Warriors got only three points from reserve center Amy Cant, who filled in during Cavness' prolonged stint on the bench.

Warrior coach John Hutchings said he was reluctant to insert

BRENT DAVIS of the Warriors (on bottom) and Shawn Brown of Cahokia are the premier 112-pounders in the area. They will likely battle again in the Granite City Sectional this weekend after Brown won the Belleville East Regional and Davis took second.

Comanches earn another trip to state

By Carl Jacobs

GRANITE CITY — The Cahokia wrestling team took all the fun out of the Granite City Sectional team competition for Granite City, but they had a ball doing it.

The Comanches, who were a slight favorite over Quincy, whipped the Blue Devils 45-11 in the semifinal round of competition. That was technically the final. Whoever survived the Cahokia-Quincy battle was sure to be a favorite over Edwardsville, which defeated Carbonado earlier in the night to reach the finals. And Cahokia followed through in the finals, trouncing the Tigers 47-13 to earn their second straight trip to state.

"I thought we could get by Quincy with (Joe) Harris in the lineup," Comanche coach Russ Baum said. "We beat Quincy by six in a dual meet and their 96-pounder pinned ours in that meet."

Harris, who has had trouble making weight all year, won the battle with the scales and defeated Quincy's Todd Schulte by technical fall, 18-2.

"That's a six-point turnaround," Baum said. "Harris wrestled his most aggressive match of the year and Cahokia's heavier weights followed suit, including Bryan Gryzmala at 132 pounds and Nehemia Sims at 138. Gryzmala lost to Chad Downs 11-6 in a dual meet during the regular season, but pinned the Blue Devil at the 2:32 mark of their match on Tuesday."

Heaton, Krekovich commit

GRANITE CITY — Western Illinois University has recruited lots of Granite City soccer players over the years. Now they've added one with definite flair for the dramatic.

Herb Heaton has made a verbal commitment to play for the Leathernecks. He joins Joe Gray, Scott Blason and Scott Grote at WIU and several other Granite City players have gone to Western in years past.

Heaton had eight goals and five assists in his senior year. But the other seven goals and five assists are dwarfed in the memory of his last goal — a

5 Warriors ready to do battle

Mike Garland doesn't know to expect from the individual portion of the Granite City Wrestling Sectional this weekend.

The Warrior coach had yet to see the matchups in the tournament as of Wednesday. Therefore he does not know who is favored or who his Warriors will face. But all that really doesn't bother the first-year head coach.

"You just have to go out there and wrestle," Garland said. "If you go out there and wrestle, you'll make it to state. You can't worry about who you are facing or whether you should win or not. You have to concentrate on wrestling."

So Garland is hoping Brent Davis at 112 pounds, Bryan Pritchett at 119, Scott Moss at 126, Rich Fenoglio at 136 and Chris Hoffman at 167 will have their attention focused Friday.

"Wrestling is so much mental," Garland said. "More so than any other sport. Whoever wants the match the most is going to win it. You can't let anything distract you."

Sims also lost to his Quincy counterpart John Harberts 14-4 in the regular season, but he triumphed in the sectionals, pinning Harberts at 2:22.

With the wins, Harris, Gryzmala and Sims combined for 18 team points the Comanches didn't have against Quincy in the first meet. The rest of the Comanches followed through. Abby Myers pinned his foe at the 2:22 mark for six points. Shawn Brown at 112 pounds added three points with a 4-3 win; Carlos Ruelas penalized his opponent; Lance Taylor lost 6-4; but Darnell Thomas won 18-0 at 145 pounds to give Cahokia a 39-3 lead and assured them the win before the final four weight classes wrestled.

"We don't have many superstars, but we have a lot of kids that are tough to beat," said Baum, who lives in Granite City. "It was a good win for the team."

After Thomas technically gave Cahokia the win, Quincy's Mike Newbold defeated George Page at 155 pounds. Jon Drake defeated Jerry Arns 12-9 before Fred Garrett lost to Tom Pickett 8-5. Blue Devil David Egbers then defeated Bam Hurd 8-2 to complete the match.

The sectional final against Edwardsville may have been the most anticlimactic in the event's history. The Tigers stacked their lineup in hopes Quincy would upset Cahokia. But when the Comanches won, Edwardsville played into their hands.

"They moved some of their wrestlers up a weight class to match up better against Quincy in case they win," Baum said. "But that put their people against our stronger weight classes."

Edwardsville was not going to beat the Comanches either way. Cahokia had defeated the Tigers 37-17 in dual meet during the regular season without Harris at 98 pounds.

Harris gained a technical fall over Larry Freitag and the Comanches were well on their way. Myers defeated Trevon Williams 19-9 at 105, Brown beat

MMS goes to state

The Madison Middle School basketball team advanced to the state tournament with a 46-22 win over Hillsboro at Jerseyville.

Cerryn Macon (19 points) and Willie Woodson (14) led the way as the middle school will compete in the 16-team state tournament beginning Saturday. They will face Mattson at 3:45 p.m. at Chatham Glenwood High School. The quarterfinals would be Monday at 4 p.m. and the semifinals would be Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

The state third-place game is next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. with the state title game to follow at 7:45. All games are at Chatham Glenwood. Madison is 14-4 on the year.

"They have gone farther than I expected and they are excited about going to state," said coach Ken Perkins.

Join the excitement! Everyone has a flying chance to win! Anyone can enter, there's no age limit and no entry fee... and you can fly as many newspaper airplanes as you wish!

Paper Planes must be made from this full page entry form and brought to Kiel Auditorium on that day.

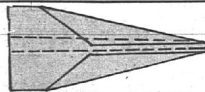

See Rules for construction requirements.

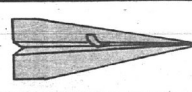

Crease to center line. Fold corners as shown.

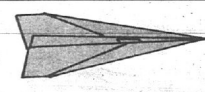

Fold again on dotted line.

Fold away from you on center line. Make opposite folds on dotted lines.

Hold wings together with tape giving them a slight upward angle. (Top View)

Tape as shown. (Bottom View)

FOLDING INSTRUCTIONS Plane and Simple Rules:

- Entrant must make his/her airplane from the official entry form printed in the Suburban Journals. One entry form may be obtained free of charge at any suburban office or at County Ford. Only one plane may be constructed from each entry form.
- Cellophane tape and not more than three (3) number one standard paper clips may be used in construction of the planes. The inclusion or use of any other material will disqualify the entry.
- Airplanes may be made prior to the championship and brought to the Kiel Auditorium or may be constructed at the Kiel Auditorium. In both cases, any materials needed for construction, i.e. paper clips, cellophane tape, must be provided by the participant.
- Championship will begin at 10:00 a.m., Sunday, February 21, 1988 and end at 2:00 p.m. If more than one person qualifies for the Grand Prize, there will be a "fly-off" at 3:00 p.m. (See rule #12 for information concerning "fly-off" procedure).
- Each newspaper airplane must have the name, address, phone number and age of the entrant written on the plane. The championship is open to participants of all ages.
- Use of scissors in constructing or altering the plane will be allowed. However, the portion of the entry containing the "name and address" box must be on each plane and each entry must resemble an airplane i.e. have wings, a front "nose." Missiles, rockets, crumpled balls of newspaper, for example are not airplanes and will be considered illegal (an example of one type of legal airplane is shown here).
- Airplanes may only be thrown from the designated balcony areas. Examples of off limit areas are the rafters, press box area, stage and auditorium floor.
- Airplanes may only be thrown by hand. Launching devices, equipment, etc. are not permitted. There is no limit to how many planes a person may throw within the designated throwing times.
- To qualify for a prize, a legal plane must land within one of the target areas placed on the Kiel Auditorium floor. Winners' names will be announced over the public address system. A person may win more than one prize, but there will be no prize substitutions. All names of participants who fly a legal plane into the sunroof will be announced. Also, their names will be posted.
- The officials, provided by the Missouri Ice Hockey Officials' Assoc., will determine what a legal plane is and if a legal plane is in the target area. All decisions are final.
- A 1988 Ford GT Escort automobile with an open sunroof will be located on the auditorium floor. This new car will be the Grand Prize. It will be awarded to the entrant who flies an airplane through the sunroof of the car. If only one legal airplane lands in the car, the car will be awarded at 2:30 p.m. In case two (2) or more planes land in the car, there will be a "fly-off" which will begin at 3:00 p.m.
- If no plane has landed in the car by 2:00 p.m., a "fly-off" will be held at 3:00 p.m. with the people whose planes have landed on the car.
- All participants who have flown at least one legal newspaper airplane through the car's open sunroof must return to the Kiel Auditorium by 2:05 p.m. to be eligible for the "fly-off". If by 2:00 p.m. no legal planes have landed in the car, all legal planes within or touching the circle surrounding the car and any legal planes on the car will qualify the thrower of those planes for the "fly-off". Those persons must also return to the Kiel Auditorium by 2:05 p.m. to be eligible for the "fly-off". Regardless of how many planes a person may have thrown in the car's sunroof during the contest, all "fly-off" participants will receive one (1) "fly-off" packet at approximately 2:30 p.m. Each packet will contain three (3) newspaper airplane forms and nine (9) number one standard paper clips and scissors will be available for participants' use. Participants may choose to use an airplane they threw previously. If any "fly-off" participants are 12 years of age or younger, they may have a parent or legal guardian assist in making their new planes, but the youngster must throw the planes in the "fly-off". There will be no substitute throwers. At 3:00 p.m. all "fly-off" participants will assemble at the designated area and attempt to fly their three (3) planes through the sunroof of the car. One participant at a time will fly his/her three (3) planes). This will continue until all planes have been thrown. Participants must stay behind the line designated as the throwing line. Stepping over the line will disqualify that particular throw. If at the end of the round of flying, only one person has flown a plane through the sunroof of the car, that person will be the Grand Prize winner. If more than one person flies a plane through the sunroof in a round of flying, those persons will repeat the "fly-off" — each receiving one (1) "fly-off" packet regardless of how many planes a person may have flown in the car's sunroof during the "fly-off". This process will be repeated as many times as necessary to determine the winner. The winner will be the only person to fly a legal plane through the sunroof, or the only person to land a plane on the car in a given round.

- If the winner of the automobile is a minor, the car will be awarded in the name of the parent or legal guardian. The winner is responsible for all taxes, license plates and title transfer fees.
- Prizes other than the automobile will be awarded until the supply runs out. The number and description of all prizes will be posted in the Kiel Auditorium on the day of the championship.
- Prizes will be awarded to winners at the prize distribution center at Kiel Auditorium. All prizes must be picked up in person by the winner prior to 2:30 p.m. on the day of the competition (Sunday, February 21, 1988). In order to verify winners, proper identification will be required. Children 12 years of age and under must be accompanied by a parent to claim their prizes.
- Interpretation of these rules and all matters of contest administration rests solely with the contest judges whose decision in all matters shall be final and binding on all participants.
- Employees of Suburban Journal Newspapers, KIX 104 FM, County Ford, Grandpa's and their immediate families are not eligible for prizes.
